PE dealmaking in healthcare services stabilizes after sluggish start

Healthcare services dealmaking showed signs of stabilization in Q2, with steady activity replacing the pessimism that defined the start of the year. Standout transactions such as Ascension Health’s $3.9 billion acquisition of AmSurg and sustained growth capital investments in subsectors such as radiology, home-based care, and mental health highlight investors’ selective appetite despite regulatory headwinds.

Key themes include heightened state-level scrutiny and fallout from the recently enacted “One Big Beautiful Bill Act,” which introduced significant Medicaid cuts and may drive up uninsured rates. While IPO activity remains dormant, exit momentum has been resilient, and overall dealmaking has kept pace with last levels. Meanwhile, creative liquidity ies such as secondaries and earnouts are ing how sponsors are navigating a tough with constrained exit opportunities.
