TechCrunch Disrupt 2025 lands in San Francisco this October, and if you're eager to break into the tech world, here's your chance to be in the room where it all happens. We're looking for curious, driven volunteers to join our team at Moscone West from October 27-29, and help power one of the most iconic startup events in the world.

There's no better way to experience Disrupt and learn from the best

You'll do more than just lend a hand. As a volunteer, you'll get a behind-the-scenes look at the production of a high-energy tech event packed with big names, breakout startups, and some of the sharpest minds in AI, VC, and beyond. And yes — you'll also earn your own free General Admission pass (worth up to $1,500) to attend the full conference.

What you'll do

From keeping check-in lines moving to helping founders find their booth space, you'll support the event in all the ways that make it run smoothly — and keep the energy high. Volunteer tasks may include:

- Assisting with registration.
- Crowd and line management.
- Directional and customer support.
- Helping with expo setup.
- General event logistics and support.

What you'll get

✓ Full access to Disrupt

After completing your volunteer shift, enjoy three days of full conference access, including sessions, networking, and startup showcases.

✓ Real-world experience

Do startups still need Silicon Valley? Hear from the founders and funders challenging old assumptions at TechCrunch Disrupt 2025

TechCrunch Events — 7:30 AM PDT · July 28, 2025

As the startup world descends on San Francisco for TechCrunch Disrupt 2025 — happening October 27-29 at Moscone West — one question looms large: Does building in Silicon Valley still give founders an edge? With 10,000+ startup and VC leaders gathering for this milestone Disrupt, the conversation around access, geography, and opportunity has never been more timely.

On the Builders Stage, Anh-Tho Chuong (Lago), David Hall (Revolution), and Heather Doshay (SignalFire) lead a must-attend session for anyone looking to scale smart in today's startup landscape.

Register now to save up to \$675 before July ends and to join this (and many more sessions).

Why this conversation matters now

As distributed teams, regional hubs, and global fundraising become more normalized, founders are increasingly asking if their ZIP code actually gives them an edge. Does being in the Bay Area still open the right doors? Or has the playing field finally leveled?

This session brings together startup veterans and seasoned investors who've built and backed companies across the country — and well beyond it. They'll dig into what access looks like in 2025, how remote collaboration has evolved post-pandemic, and where true opportunity lies for emerging founders.

Who's taking the Builders Stage for this session

Anh-Tho Chuong is rethinking open source billing with Lago, a YC-backed platform trusted by AI leaders like Mistral and Together. From her time scaling Qonto to her early roles at Weebly and McKinsey, she's no stranger to navigating growth across continents.

David Hall has spent the last decade proving that game-changing companies don't have to come out of Silicon Valley. As managing partner at Revolution's Rise of the Rest Seed Fund, he's helped build a portfolio that spans the country — backing bold founders in places often overlooked by coastal VCs.

Term sheets, traction, and truth bombs: Inside the Series A mindset at TechCrunch Disrupt 2025

TechCrunch Events — 7:30 AM PDT · August 1, 2025

At TechCrunch Disrupt 2025, taking place October 27-29 at Moscone West in San Francisco, we're getting real about what it takes to land a Series A in today's market — no smoke, no mirrors, just the unfiltered perspective from the people signing the checks.

Series A has changed — here's how to win in 2026

This Builder Stage session brings together three power players in early-stage investing: Katie Stanton (Moxxie Ventures), Thomas Krane (Insight Partners), and Sangeen Zeb (GV). They've seen thousands of decks, led major rounds, and helped steer startups from scrappy beginnings to breakout scale.

This conversation goes deeper than the headlines. From the metrics that matter and how to tell your growth story, to what causes investors to walk away — you'll hear what actually moves a pitch from “maybe” to “we're in.”

Meet the VCs who know how to spot a rocket ship

Katie Stanton brings a track record most operators only dream of. From Twitter and the Obama White House to backing more than 100 early-stage companies like Airtable, Calm, and Carta, she's built Moxxie Ventures on conviction and founder-first instincts.

Thomas Krane has spent over a decade at Insight Partners, climbing from analyst to managing director while backing some of the biggest names in software and cybersecurity. With IPO wins like JFrog and SentinelOne, he knows what scalable traction looks like — and how to fund it.

Sangeen Zeb is a general partner at GV with an eye for enterprise and AI. His board work spans companies like Vercel and Harvey, and he's helped lead investments in some of the most talked-about growth stories in tech.

Your Series A isn't just a round — it's a reset

The market is tighter, the stakes are higher, and this is the session founders can't afford to miss. Learn what it takes to raise on your terms and build for the long game. Lock in your seat at TechCrunch Disrupt 2025 now to save up to $675 and join 10,000+ startup and VC leaders in the room where deals — and futures — get made.
