From pitch to partnership: The real roadmap to seed funding

This dynamic panel brings together three seasoned investors — Maria Palma (Freestyle Capital), Gabby Cazeau (Harlem Capital), and Marlon Nichols (MaC Venture Capital) — to unpack the realities of early-stage fundraising. From shaping a compelling pitch to choosing the right capital partners, they'll share honest, actionable insights to help founders translate interest into investment.

Maria Palma, general partner at Freestyle Capital, brings deep operating and investing experience, with past roles at Kindred Capital, RRE Ventures, and leadership positions at high-growth startups like Eyeview. She's backed companies such as Fung Money, Lightning Labs, and Payman, and holds an MBA from Harvard.

Gabby Cazeau is a partner at Harlem Capital, investing in pre-seed and seed startups across enterprise software and applied AI. She holds an MBA from Yale and a BS in chemical engineering. Gabby has been featured in Business Insider, CNBC, and Crain's 40 Under 40, and serves on the VC Council of Startup:NYC.

Marlon Nichols, co-founder and managing general partner of MaC Venture Capital, leads one of North America's top seed-stage firms with over $600 million AUM (assets under management). A multiple-time honoree on Business Insider's Seed 100 and PitchBook's list of top Black VCs, Marlon has helped scale industry-shaping companies like Blavity, Thrive Market, and MongoDB.

What to expect on the Builders Stage

This isn't your typical venture panel. Expect sharp insights on how to cut through the noise, structure your raise, and build relationships that last beyond a term sheet. Whether you're gearing up for your first round or advising a founder who is, this is the session you don't want to miss.

Introducing the Going Public Stage at TechCrunch Disrupt 2025

TechCrunch Events — 9:01 AM PDT · June 25, 2025

For the first time ever, TechCrunch Disrupt is launching the Going Public Stage — a brand-new destination for founders navigating the mid and late stages of company building.

This content is essential for any founder, but especially those scaling fast, preparing for exit, or reimagining what comes next. Because whether you're at the seed stage or Series E, the most successful founders are always thinking 10 steps ahead.

You'll hear from some of the biggest names in tech and venture — including Julie Wainwright (The RealReal), David George (Andreessen Horowitz), and Nirav Tolia (Nextdoor) — as they share hard-won lessons on building resilient companies, navigating shifting markets, and staying ahead of the curve.

From IPO prep to AI-powered GTM strategy, this stage is your roadmap for building what's next.

Stay tuned — more sessions and speakers are coming soon. In the meantime, mark the Going Public Stage as a can't-miss at Disrupt, and grab your ticket now to save up to \$675.

How Long Should a Startup Stay Private?

David George, general partner, Andreessen Horowitz

Startups today can grow to huge valuations, cash out their employees, and stay private longer than those of previous eras. But that also means that late-stage startups are facing a whole new set of rules. George unpacks the shifting VC landscape, what the next generation of scaled startups needs to know, and how capital is being deployed in an era of tighter money and higher expectations. From IPO windows to secondary markets to the evolving role of growth investors, this fireside chat goes deep on what it really takes to build enduring companies in today's market — and what's coming next.

Everything You Need to Know Before an Exit

Jai Das, co-founder, president, and partner, Sapphire Ventures; Roseanne Wincek, co-founder and managing director, Renegade Partners; and another speaker to be announced

Go public, get acquired, or double down and stay private? In today's unpredictable market, founders need to think about exit strategy earlier — and more strategically — than ever. This panel brings together two top VCs and a seasoned CFO to unpack how to set your company up for every option. We'll talk timing, metrics that matter, investor expectations, and what it really takes to navigate M&A, IPO prep, or just keep building through the storm. Whether you're 12 months out or just starting to scale, this conversation is all about making smart moves now for whatever comes next.

Building What Comes Next

Julie Wainwright, CEO, Ahara; founder and former CEO, TheRealReal

Wainwright knows how to spot a wave — and ride it. From pioneering luxury resale at The RealReal to jumping into personalized nutrition with Ahara, she's made a career out of building ahead of the curve. In this fireside chat, Wainwright opens up about what it takes to start over, scale fast, and stay resilient through market shifts and personal pivots. We'll dig into the lessons learned from category creation, the risks of reinvention, and why experience might just be the ultimate startup edge.

How AI Is Forcing Late-stage Startups to Rewire GTM — or Be Left Behind

Jane Alexander, partner, CapitalG; Vanessa Larco, co-founder, Premise; and Nirav Tolia, CEO, Nextdoor

AI is rewriting the playbook for how startups reach and win customers, and late-stage companies are feeling the pressure to adapt fast. In this panel, two top VCs and a seasoned founder break down how AI is transforming go-to-market strategies, from sales and marketing to customer success. We'll get into what's working, what's hype, and how to build AI into your GTM engine without losing focus. If you're scaling and wondering how AI fits into your next phase of growth, this is the conversation you don't want to miss.

Ready to exit? Start at Disrupt 2025

Whether you're weighing an acquisition, eyeing the IPO window, or mapping out your ideal exit, the Going Public Stage at Disrupt 2025 is built for founders ready to make their next big move. Hear from leaders who've navigated the highs, the risks, and the reinventions — and walk away with insights you can act on now.

Don't wait to sharpen your exit strategy. Secure your pass to Disrupt 2025 and save up to \$675 before prices rise. More sessions and speakers are coming soon, but this stage alone is worth the ticket.

Do startups still need Silicon Valley? Hear from the founders and funders challenging old assumptions at TechCrunch Disrupt 2025

TechCrunch Events — 7:30 AM PDT · July 28, 2025

As the startup world descends on San Francisco for TechCrunch Disrupt 2025 — happening October 27-29 at Moscone West — one question looms large: Does building in Silicon Valley still give founders an edge? With 10,000+ startup and VC leaders gathering for this milestone Disrupt, the conversation around access, geography, and opportunity has never been more timely.

How to actually raise a seed round: Actionable advice

On the Builders Stage, Anh-Tho Chuong (Lago), David Hall (Revolution), and Heather Doshay (SignalFire) lead a must-attend session for anyone looking to scale smart in today's startup landscape.

Register now to save up to \$675 before July ends and to join this (and many more sessions).

Why this conversation matters now

As distributed teams, regional hubs, and global fundraising become more normalized, founders are increasingly asking if their ZIP code actually gives them an edge. Does being in the Bay Area still open the right doors? Or has the playing field finally leveled?

This session brings together startup veterans and seasoned investors who've built and backed companies across the country — and well beyond it. They'll dig into what access looks like in 2025, how remote collaboration has evolved post-pandemic, and where true opportunity lies for emerging founders.

Who's taking the Builders Stage for this session

Anh-Tho Chuong is rethinking open source billing with Lago, a YC-backed platform trusted by AI leaders like Mistral and Together. From her time scaling Qonto to her early roles at Weebly and McKinsey, she's no stranger to navigating growth across continents.

David Hall has spent the last decade proving that game-changing companies don't have to come out of Silicon Valley. As managing partner at Revolution's Rise of the Rest Seed Fund, he's helped build a portfolio that spans the country — backing bold founders in places often overlooked by coastal VCs.

Championing founders through every challenge

As a general partner at Defy, Medha Agarwal is fortunate to support exceptional entrepreneurs from day zero through hyper-growth. Whether building her own startups or partnering with founders, she has experienced the highs and lows of company-building, sometimes all within the same hour. It's one of the hardest, loneliest jobs in the world, which is why she believes founders need trusted partners who can be there for anything, big or small. Agarwal strives to be that person.

Before Defy, she spent seven years as a partner at Redpoint Ventures, focused on early-stage fintech, vertical SaaS, marketplaces, and healthcare.

She had the privilege of working with companies like Whatnot, Tend, Proper Finance, LiveKit, and Anvyl — founders who taught her as much as she supported them.

Software innovation for a better world

Jyoti Bansal is a serial entrepreneur who believes passionately in software's ability to change the world for the better. He co-founded Harness in 2017 to automate and simplify all software delivery processes, and serves as CEO. In 2018, he co-founded Traceable, the leading API security platform, and venture capital firm Unusual Ventures. In 2008, Bansal founded application intelligence company AppDynamics, which he led to a $3.7 billion acquisition by Cisco in 2017.

The recipient of multiple leadership awards, Bansal has been named Forbes' "Best Cloud Computing CEO to Work For"; San Francisco Business Times' "Best CEO"; Ernst & Young's "Entrepreneur of the Year™ for Northern California"; and more.

Operator-turned-investor empowering B2B innovation

Jennifer Neundorfer is an operator turned investor who has been investing in early-stage startups for the last decade.
